LETTER OF INTENT

C/O Emmanuel Amponsah Frimpong
SS. Thomas More and John Fisher Church,
P.O Box A283,
Achimota Accra.
10th March 2025.

The High Commission of Canada,
42 Independence Avenue,
Accra Ghana.
Dear Visa Officer,

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

I am Emmanuel Amponsah Frimpong, a Ghanaian citizen with passport number G5248203. I have been admitted to pursue a one-year postgraduate degree in Master of Arts in Applied Economics at the University of Winnipeg, commencing on 1st September 2025. I am writing to express my sincere intent to pursue my Masters education in Canada and provide you with the necessary information.

PERSONAL AND EDUCATIONAL BACKGROUND AND RELEVANT WORK EXPERIENCE

I graduated in 2021 with a Bachelor of Arts in Administration (Economics and Finance option) from the University of Ghana. During my studies, I discovered a keen interest in accounting, a subject I had no prior experience with. Recognizing its critical role in the global economy and its value in managing my father's business more efficiently, I decided to pursue a Chartered Accountancy qualification with the Institute of Chartered Accountants Ghana (ICAG). I began this journey in my second year and managed to successfully balance it alongside my university coursework.

While advancing my education, I gained practical exposure through a four-month stint at Databank-an Investment bank in Ghana, where I helped promote financial literacy and inclusion on campus. My father is the owner of A. Frimps farms, a 26 different palm plantation with a total of 254 acres. The farm has been in existence since 1993. My father employed me into his farming business in 2017 as part of the transporting team. I took an active role in supporting the operations of my father's palm nut plantation in the Eastern Region of Ghana by managing the farm's financial records. I am in charge of the general operations of the business including other financial and accounting roles such as salary review and payment to our 193 workers. I have developed valuable hands-on experience in financial management as a result of my role in my father's business.

After graduating with a second-class upper, I honed my skills further through my national service at Zenith Bank Ghana. However, I continued to oversee and monitor financial activities for the family farm. These diverse experiences have provided me with a solid foundation in finance, accounting, and business management, preparing me to excel in my next professional challenges.

I currently work as a teller at Zenith Bank, a position I secured following the completion of my national service. In addition to my role at the bank, I have taken on the responsibility of managing my father's farms, ensuring their operations run efficiently, a testament to my dedication and commitment. Motivated by a strong passion for career advancement, I graduated in 2024 from The Institute of Chartered Accountants Ghana (ICAG) as an associate member. However, I am yet to achieve full membership, as this requires at least three years of relevant work experience. Despite balancing a demanding schedule, I remain firmly focused on advancing my professional career while effectively managing my father's agricultural enterprise.

WHY CANADA AND UNIVERSITY OF WINNIPEG

Canada emerges as an excellent destination for education, thanks to its globally acclaimed academic system, upheld for its high standards and outstanding quality. The nation's dedication to multiculturalism and diversity fosters an inclusive environment, closely aligning with my personal values. Furthermore, Canada's strong focus on fundamental rights and freedoms creates a safe and harmonious societal framework, making it a prime choice for international students seeking holistic growth.

Among the array of prestigious institutions in Canada, the University of Winnipeg stands out as the perfect fit for my academic pursuits. Its mission to unite people across diverse cultural backgrounds and to cultivate global citizenship deeply resonates with my principles. The university is proactive in identifying and dismantling systemic barriers, ensuring equity is embedded within its research structure and enriching the broader community. Collaboration with arts organizations and initiatives further enhances the cultural fabric of the campus and its surroundings. The school also provides an avenue for research works among its faculties. Example; the faculty of Economics has offered me a scholarship in the form of a graduate assistantship where I will be working with my department under the supervision of professor Melaine O’Gorman who is also working on a project in policy analysis in a number of developing countries including my country Ghana. This opportunity will provide me with practical experience in both research and teaching. This will gain me much insight on how various policies affect different economies. I will therefore be able to contribute significantly to nation building upon my arrival in Ghana after my studies.

The University of Winnipeg is firmly committed to providing an enriching student experience through extensive support services, such as academic and career guidance, health and counseling services, mentoring programs, and tutoring. These resources are thoughtfully designed to address the needs of diverse student groups, including Indigenous students, adult learners, international students, persons with disabilities, immigrants, and refugees. This comprehensive support framework nurtures a truly inclusive learning environment.

In addition, Winnipeg as a city offers students significant advantages, including affordable housing and a low cost of living, enabling a high quality of life. Its vibrant cultural diversity and welcoming atmosphere make it an engaging place to live and pursue studies. The University of Winnipeg combines innovative teaching approaches, a dynamic research environment, and a supportive community, making it the ideal location to achieve my educational goals.

WHY MASTERS OF ARTS IN APPLIED ECONOMICS

My application for this program was driven by career growth and the need to advance the knowledge gained from my Undergraduate studies. I studied Economics as a Major subject in the University of Ghana. Upon my search for graduate studies, I felt the need for this course because it aligns with my subject matter during my undergraduate studies and it is the course that will help fill the gap during my undergraduate studies. The course provides a practical approach to how economies are affected by various policies and other natural phenomenon.

With my concentration in Policy Analysis, the course will also make me proficient in economic analysis. I will then be able to apply this knowledge in addressing contemporary economic issues such as identifying the type of balanced investment portfolio to hold to mitigate investment risk, how various macro-economic indicators such as inflation, employment, interest rate affects economies. I also have a confirmation from Alain Beaudry, an alumnus from the faculty who testifies to the small class size and readily-available professors for this course making teaching and learning more effective. The faculty is extraordinarily passionate about learning and research, and this enthusiasm translates to an amazingly effective learning environment.

Secondly, I am currently working with Zenith bank Ghana as a teller for two years. Even though I have expressed my interest in joining the finance team as a treasury officer my efforts to achieve career progression in the industry requires me to advance my education to a higher level. I am very optimistic this course will help me reach my desired height in banking. Some of the courses outlined for this program such as cost-benefit analysis and valuation technique will give me the requisite skills to appraise various investment decisions needed to be taken by the bank. Another key objective of this course is also to introduce students to financial instruments such as stocks, derivative contracts (options, futures and swaps), mutual funds, checks and others that are key in diversifying risk in contemporary economies. This objective will also make me a better fit for the roles as a treasury officer in the finance department as I will be able to share my knowledge gained from this course in achieving a well-balanced investment portfolio.

I will also be able to apply the knowledge acquired after my studies in running my father's business when I arrive in Ghana. The farm business also experiences seasonal changes. In the early months of the year, the farm experiences low yields as a result of climate change. It often becomes a burden on farmers on how to strategies for their farms in those seasons. The economic impact of this phenomenon is often dire as some farmers even find it difficult to break-even during these times. The concept of climate change affecting businesses is also captured in this program and I know after my studies, I will be able to find a lasting solution to this challenge when I return home to help myself, my father's business and the farmers in my area.

I am also encouraged by the commendation from alumnus (Eashita Dabas). Eashita recounts her great experience as an international student in the faculty of Economics where she got the chance to meet bright students and experienced professors who helped in shaping her career. I am very confident I will also gain an enriching experience with great students from all walks of life coupled with an incredible support from the faculty after my studies in the school as she witnessed.

HOME AND FAMILY TIES

My connection to my home country is profoundly significant, encompassing both personal and professional dimensions of my life. My entire immediate family, including my parents and my sibling, resides in Ghana, and the bond I share with them is deeply treasured. As the youngest in my family, I have a unique and close relationship with my parents, who have been a constant source of love and support throughout my life. Their guidance has shaped me in countless ways, and I hold our shared moments in the highest regard.

I am acutely aware of the emotional void my absence creates for them, especially as they have always valued my presence and companionship. This understanding strengthens my resolve to return to Ghana upon completing my studies. It is important to me to be there for them, particularly as they grow older, ensuring that we can create more cherished memories together in the years to come.

My father has gifted a portion (7 hectares) of his palm nut plantation to me as an appreciation for my hard work and dedication towards his work. I also manage the operations of his business (A. FRIMPS) concurrently. My father has assured me, I will be the one to take charge of his business when he grows weary. In addition to being the Operations manager, he has tasked me to get myself acquainted with all the administrative work of the business to ensure a seamless transition. In line with this, I have to return to ensure the efficient running of the business as well as the farm gifted me. My quest for this higher education is spurred by the urge to grow my father's business and the farm gifted me. I will therefore return after my studies to help grow our business. My father's investment in me and entrusting me with the farm will be in vain and so I have to return after my study. My father's wants me to fully take charge of the business and expand our operations after my arrival since I would have acquired the knowledge and skill to do so.

I have already acquired a plot of land which I intend using as a palm oil processing factory when I arrive in Ghana after my studies. The site has been prepared and work has already started to erect the factory to process the palm nut fruits from our farm. I have promised my father to let him see our palm oil processing factory running as an appreciation for the gift given me and a sign of continuity of our business. Being aware of his old age, I have to come back to Ghana to accomplish this dream.

Also, I was granted an associate membership status from the Institute of Chartered Accountants Ghana (ICAG) after my completion of my professional course in Accountancy in 2024. Even though I had no accounting background from high school, I realised the need to make myself relevant in my country by pursuing this course. It is therefore imperative on me after successful completion to apply the knowledge I have gained to benefit my country. My enormous contribution in the working space requires me to be a member of the Institute Of Chartered Accountants Ghana. For me to be able to apply for full membership of the body, I need to have worked for three or more years in Ghana. With just two years of working experience, I have to return to Ghana to work and get the desired number of years of work experience to be able to apply for membership. I spent much time and resources on this professional course and I have to apply and attain membership status from the body. Some of the benefits of being a member of ICAG include networking opportunities, opportunities for professional development and recognition, Opportunities to highlight expertise, and others. I have to benefit from these opportunities looking at the investment I have made in acquiring this certification hence my arrival in Ghana after my studies. In addition, the certification from the Institute of Chartered Accountants Ghana is not recognised in Canada as a professional accounting designation. I therefore have no reason than to come back to Ghana to practice the accounting profession after toiling to have this certification. A blend of my Master's degree in Economics and Chartered accountancy will help me realise my dreams upon arrival in Ghana.

CONCLUSION

I am deeply committed to adhering to the laws and regulations of Canada, just as I have consistently respected the rules of my current country of residence. I have taken the time to thoroughly understand the responsibilities outlined for international students on the official IRCC website and will strictly comply with them. My sole intention in coming to Canada is to pursue my studies, as stated in this letter, and upon completing my education, I am fully dedicated to returning to my home country to achieve the goals I have set for myself.

I assure you that I will not impose any burden on Canada. I will diligently follow all the rules and guidelines established by my prospective educational institution and the Canadian authorities. To support my application, I have enclosed all the required documents and I am ready to provide any additional information or documentation if needed. I sincerely hope that this statement of purpose aligns with your expectations and demonstrates my commitment.

Yours sincerely,

EMMANUEL AMPONSAH FRIMPONG.

GRADUATE STUDIES AND APPLICATION PROCESS

THE UNIVERSITY OF WINNIPEG

Faculty of Graduate Studies

APPLICATION AND ADMISSION PROCESS

The University of Winnipeg welcomes applications from Canadian and International students for admission to graduate programs. Acceptance is required before students register in courses. Admission to graduate programs is competitive and meeting the minimum requirements does not guarantee admission. Every year, the University offers admission to less than 40% of the applications received for admission to graduate programs. Not all applicants will be accepted to the graduate programs to which they apply, including some students who may appear to be eligible. Offers of Acceptance indicate that students' particular interests and accomplishments make them a good fit for the program to which they have applied.

The general admission requirement for graduate program is a 4-year undergraduate degree from a recognized post-secondary education institution with an overall GPA of 3.0 or the equivalent in other grading scales. Specific programs may have additional requirements. For more information, please refer to: <http://www.uwinnipeg.ca/graduate-studies/graduate-programs/index.html>.

Prospective graduate students are encouraged to submit their applications for admission as early as possible. Applications must be submitted online along with supporting documentation, which includes transcripts from all post-secondary education institutions, a minimum of two reference letters, application fee, proof of English language proficiency, research proposal, résumé, proof of citizenship, and name changes.

The application and all required documentation must be received by the Office of Admission for Graduate Studies by the following dates in order for the student to be considered for funding: December 1 for Spring/Summer Term (May); February 1 for Fall Term (September); and September 1 for Winter Term (January).

When an application file is complete, it is forwarded by the Graduate Studies Office to the appropriate Departmental Graduate Program Committee (DGPC) for review and evaluation. The DGPC is made up of faculty members, who teach and supervise in the particular graduate program to which the student is applying. In other words, these are expert reviewers. The Departmental Graduate Program Committees forward their recommendations to the Dean of Graduate Studies. Official letters of acceptance or rejection will be issued to applicants by the Dean of Graduate Studies.

Upon receiving a letter of offer along with the Provincial Attestation Letter (PAL) and CIC form, international students are advised to immediately submit their application to the Citizenship and Immigration Canada office (CIC) near them. A copy of this information is supplied to successful applicants and they are encouraged to submit it with their application for a study permit.

Dear Visa Officer,

RECOMMENDATION FOR EMMANUEL AMPONSAH FRIMPONG

I am delighted to provide a recommendation for Emmanuel Amponsah Frimpong, who is a staff of Zenith bank under my supervision for study permit. Emmanuel demonstrates a high level of professionalism and competence that stands out markedly from his peers.

In his role as a teller, Emmanuel is very robust in the discharge of his duties. He is always available to serve customers with the utmost satisfaction needed. He is very instrumental in upholding the bank's policies and procedures in the branch. Within a short time after his employment, Emmanuel had gained much experience reducing the operational risks associated with his work. Emmanuel is always available to assist his colleagues as well. This act of him has brought unison in the cash and teller department. Emmanuel does not limit his knowledge only to his department. However, he is always among the people to call upon when the branch has to deliberate on the financial performance of the branch; because of his strong background in Economics, Finance and Accounting. Emmanuel has become the arrowhead of the department after this incredible mark in the department. Almost every internal and external customer wants to be attended to by him. He has gotten much commendation from both staff and external customers for his hardwork.

Emmanuel's great analytical skills were as a result of his eagerness to learn and contribute. He is very proactive in discharging his duties and also making significant contributions beyond the typical scope of his work.

Moreover, Emmanuel's interpersonal skills and positive attitude has made him a favorite among his teammates and clients alike. He communicates his ideas clearly and persuasively, making him an effective team player.

Currently, Emmanuel is pursuing the role of treasury officer in the finance department of the bank. This role requires him to have a Masters degree in a related field of Finance and Economics. I see him fit for this role after completion of this program. I have communicated the intentions of Emmanuel to the Human Resource department and they have assured him of the role as a treasury officer once he finishes this program.

I am confident that Emmanuel's drive and commitment to his professional and academic pursuits will make him an excellent candidate for your program and the best fit for the role as a treasury officer in Zenith Bank Ghana upon his arrival.

Thank you.

RECOMMENDATION LETTER FROM UNIVERSITY PROFESSOR

UNIVERSITY OF GHANA
UNIVERSITY OF GHANA BUSINESS SCHOOL
DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE

March 2, 2025

TO THE VISA OFFICER

Dear Sir/Madam,

RECOMMENDATION LETTER FOR EMMANUEL AMPONSAH FRIMPONG

I am writing to express my strong endorsement of Emmanuel's application for study permit to pursue further studies at the University of Winnipeg (Canada). I had the privilege of being Emmanuel's instructor for approximately four years, and during that time, I have had the opportunity to get to know him as an outstanding student, ranking among the best I've had the pleasure of teaching in the past decade. His unwavering determination, intellectual prowess, and strong commitment to personal growth make him an exceptional candidate for graduate studies.

Emmanuel consistently embodies the essential qualities of resilience, initiative, and intellectual innovation required to complete an advanced graduate program. I wholeheartedly support his admission based on his academic performance and active participation in my classes. If his past achievements and his enthusiastic engagement in my courses are any indication, I firmly believe that he would be a valuable addition to your academic program.

Considering his exceptional academic accomplishments and his leadership qualities, I would confidently place him in the top 10% of his class. Throughout our time together, I closely observed his active involvement in class discussions, where he consistently displayed a high level of academic excellence and intelligence. His ability to meet the rigorous academic standards of your institution is unquestionable. Moreover, he possesses outstanding multitasking abilities and adeptly manages competing responsibilities.

Emmanuel demonstrates remarkable physical, emotional, and mental stability and strong analytical and quantitative skills. He excels as a communicator, exhibits proficiency in English, and is an outstanding team player. His creativity, optimism, and self-assuredness further enhance his appeal. While he collaborates effectively within groups, he also exhibits self-reliance, exceptional discipline and time management skills. Additionally, he easily adapts to new environments.

Emmanuel is honest, transparent, and candid and dealing with me and the students. He effectively and efficiently executed every task I assigned to him. He can liaise with me and his colleagues to disseminate information and share vital learning materials. I saw his dedication to excellence and his passion for helping his students to perform well first-hand. He was a great motivation to his colleagues, and he had a great impact on them. He is very obedient and compliant. I am very confident he will act according to the rules and regulations in Canada

Furthermore, Emmanuel exhibits significant expertise in conducting empirical research and has a high level of proficiency with the Microsoft Office Suite. Given his impressive academic record, dedication to professional development, and evident leadership capabilities, I wholeheartedly support his candidacy for this program and encourage you to consider him for study permit. I have every confidence that he will excel as a student within your country and a leader when he comes back to Ghana, Thank you.
